High Performance Unit – National Sevens Program, Physiotherapist.

The Australian Rugby Union, the national body of rugby in Australia and home to the Qantas Wallabies, is seeking applications from suitably qualified persons for the position of National Sevens Program, Physiotherapist.

Reporting to the HPU National Programs Manager, the Physiotherapist – will deliver a full time physiotherapist service to the Australian 7s programs and coordinate the level of service on a national basis.

Responsibilities include:

- Coordinate Physiotherapy service provision to men's and Women's 7s programs across the nation and work collaboratively with National Academy program
- Attend all training, meetings, assemblies, tournaments and tours as required by the 7s program and work collaboratively and within the National Academy program.
- Coordinate and perform treatment and implementation of prehabilitation, rehabilitation and return to play strategies.
- Work effectively with other team members to support and complement other national programs and research.

Required skills:

- Proven high level understanding of professional sporting environment, especially elite player development.
- Proven clinical skills and evidence innovation and cutting edge clinical practice.
- Demonstrated ability to plan and mobilise others to act strategically.
- Outstanding ability to initiate, monitor and review projects and activities in line with organisational strategic plans.
- Proven management experience with a demonstrated ability to maintain relationships with a diverse group of stakeholders
- Outstanding communications skills - written & verbal

The role requires regular after hours and weekend activities and international travel. To apply please send a three page maximum resume (including three referees) and a covering letter supporting your application to recruitment@rugby.com.au . Applications close COB (5pm) on Friday 18th January 2013.

To discuss the role in more detail please contact Julie James – Manager, Human Resources Australian Rugby Tel: 02 80055528.